Constantinople, March 6. N. S.

THE Face of Affairs at this Court is lately chang'd.— There was a strong Party with the Reis Effendi, or Chancellor, at the Head of it, which insisted very much on the renewing the War with the Christian Powers, and oppos'd every Step that had a Tendency to confirm of Belgrade, particularly with regard to the Porte had agreed with the Ministers of to exchange all the Russian Slaves for the B a proper Number of other Prisoners. This tion the Chancellor did all he could to make ut he labour'd in vain, the Russian Ministers air Ground, and the Count d'Uhlefeldt to fully d the Court of the Faithfulness of the Chancel- lations, that the Grand Signior resolv'd the tion should not be defeated, or in the least al- and this Resolution was very much owing to News which came at the same time from Per- Porte being afraid to enter into a new War they had confirm'd the two Treaties concluded near B lg-d.

March 29. N. S. The Duke Anthony Brunwic Wolfembutte is declar'd Lieutenant of the Regiment of Guards of which the Em- self is Colonel, in compliance with the earnest of the Officers of that Regiment, who requested Imperial Highness upon their bended Knees. that the late Duke of Courland has writ an count with his own Hand of what pass'd during Empress's Illness, and discovered a great many which would have been fatal to the Empire, with the Names of all that had a Hand in The Duke of Wolfembutte, in order to acquire Knowledge of the Affairs of the Empire, has Conferences with the Count d'Osternan, who d.distinguish'd Share in the Confidence of his Sove- four Reigns successively. Cologne, April 14. N. S. The Elector being at Bon when the Birth of the Archduke was notify'd to him by the Queen of Hungary's Cup-bearer, made him a Present of a Gold Snuff-box and a Diamond Ring of great Value. His Minister at Ratisbon has at the same time communicated to the Dyet a Copy of a Letter which his Electoral Highness has sent to his Minister at Vienna, wherein he enjoins him to declare to the Foreign Ministers there, 'that tho' he has determin'd to recognize the Queen of Hungary, he has done it only with the Reserve stipulated by the Emperor himself in the Pragmatic Sanction, viz. That the said Guaranty shall not be to the Prejudice of any Person; that consequently his said Recognition could be of no Advantage to the Queen or to her Descendants with regard to the Succession of Bohemia; that much less ought any Prejudice to arise from it to the Rights of the Bavarian Family to the Dominions of Austria; to which Rights he does not propose to give the least Shock; and that by consequence, if the Queen entered into a War with the Elector of Bavaria, she ought not to expect that the Elector of Cologne would take part therein to the Prejudice of his Brother.'

Also this Morning came up to Spithead thro' the Needles his Majesty's Ship the Norwich, Capt. Knight, after 13 Weeks Voyage from Jamaica.

Dover, April 10. 'I now send you, I believe, the first News of the French Fleet being return'd to Europe. Ten Sail of them were seen about a Month ago, by a Dutch Ship which pass'd by here last Night; another Dutch Ship, which also pass'd by here last Night, spoke with Nine Sail of them in Latitude 48, on Saturday last: One of them had a White Flag on her Mizzen Topmast Head, which we suppose to be the Marquis d'Antin. A Portuguese Ship that arriv'd this Morning likewise says he saw the said Squadron off of Brest; so that I verily believe it must be true.'

Arrived the Elizabeth, Taylor, from St. Kitts; the St. John, Bade, from St. Remo; and a Spanish Tartan Prize taken by the Bristol Privateer; all three for London. Wind W. S. W.

LONDON, April 13.

There are Letters by this Mail from Stockholm with Advice, that on the 16th ult. O. S. the Master of the Ceremonies went to the House of Mr. Burnaby, the British Minister, and told him he must come no more to Court. They add that 2000 Seamen are order'd to be sent to Carelsroon, where 12 Ships of the Line and 6 Frigates are fitting out; that all the Troops in Sweden are order'd to get ready for a March; that all Hands are at work in putting the Gallies in a good Condition; that the Government is treating with their Bank to borrow 1400000 Crowns; and they say it has been resolv'd in the Secret Committee, to stop one half of the Salaries of Placemen towards the Charges of the War.

The Report of an Action in Silesia, between the Queen of Hungary's Troops and those of Prussia, is contradicted, but a Battle was soon expected; for the Austrian Army, under the Velt-marshal de Neuperg, consisting of 11 Regiments of Foot, 6 of Cuirassiers, 5 of Dragoons, and 5 of Hussars, after two painful Days March from Olmutz in Moravia, over high Hills cover'd with Snow, arriv'd the 20th ult. at Lichtenworde near Engelsberg in Silesia; and after the Arrival of the Artillery and Pontons, which are expected every Moment, it was to proceed to Einsidel, which is but two Days March from Neifs, where they proposed to be by Lady-day; so that if the Prussians stood their Ground, no doubt but a General Action would be the Consequence. An Order is publish'd at Vienna for all the Queen's Subjects and Vassals in the Service of the King of Prussia, to quit it, on pain of forfeiting their Estates, Honours, and Dignities, and of being put to Death if taken.

On Lady-day last at Night the Secretary's Office at Hanover, which is contiguous to the King's Palace, was burnt down so suddenly that few Papers of Importance could be saved out of the Flames, and the Palace itself was in such danger, that the Furniture was all taken out. How it happened is not known, but the Man who keeps the next House is taken up on Suspicion. It is said that the 6000 Danes in his Majesty's Pay are actually on the March towards the Elbe.

The Lord Hyndford, the British Envoy Extraordinary, arriv'd the 4th instant at Utrecht, in his Way to Berlin.

They write from Cassel, that the Princess Mary is again indispos'd.

M. Rudenschield, the Swedish Minister at Berlin, set out the 31st ult. for Silesia, with a Commission to the King of Prussia.

The Great Duke of Tuscany's Minister at Paris has presented a Writing to the French Court which is a flat Denial of the Conspiracy said to be form'd against the Person of the King of Prussia.

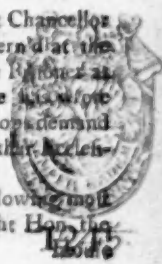

They write from Madrid, that they have very contradictory Reports there relating to what has pass'd in America; that M. Campillo the new Superintendent of the Finances is very much in favour with the King and Queen; that the daily Proofs which he gives of his Ability, the Method he has put the Finances in, and his Quickness in apprehending every thing relating to them, have made some compare him to Don Joseph Patinho, whose Maxims he follows in every thing tending to the Welfare of the State; and 'tis even reported that he will have all the Offices with which that able Minister was vested.

There's Advice from Moscow, that the Baron de Bismarck, who was Lieut. Gen. and Governor of Riga and lately banish'd to Siberia on account of the Affairs of the late Duke of Courland, dy'd a few Days after his Arrival in that Country; and that the Counts Charles and Gustavus de Biron were actually arriv'd at Tobolska, and lodg'd in the House of the Vice Governor.

The King of Denmark's Ministers have drawn up a new Memorial proving the indisputable Rights of his Crown to the Navigation, Fishery and Commerce of Groenland, Islande, Ferro, Finmarck, Nordland, and the Isles and Coasts thereto belonging, and the Dutch Resident at Copenhagen has made a new Declaration upon that Head with regard to the Differences betwixt the Danes and Dutch.

They write from Vienna, that the Great Chancellor the Count de Sintzendorf is so much concern'd at the News of his Son the Cardinal being made Prisoner at Outmachau by the King of Prussia, that he has writ about it to Rome, and that the Prussian Troops demand great Contributions of the Convents and other Ecclesiastical Houses in Silesia.

His Majesty was pleas'd to return the following most gracious Answer to the Address of the Right Hon. the House of Peers, presented to him on Friday last; viz.

My Lords,

I Thank you very kindly for this most Seasonable and Dutiful Address. The true Concern you shew for the Assistance of the Queen of Hungary, and the Support of the House of Austria, is very agreeable to me.

The Assurances you give me in relation to my Territories abroad, is a strong Proof of your Affection to me; and you may depend on my making no other Use of the Confidence you repose in me, than to enable me to act with Vigour in maintaining the Pragmatick Sanction, and in the Preservation of the Balance and Liberties of Europe, and of our common Interest and Security.

nent Druggist.

James Earl Waldegrave, Baron Waldegrave of Chen-ton, and Baronet, Knight of the most Noble Order of the Garter, &c. and is succeeded in Honour and Estate by his eldest Son James Lord Chenton.

Deptford, Woolwich and Chatham have receiv'd Or-street, a young Lady of fine Accomplishments and a considerable Fortune.

The Inhabitants of Broadstreet Ward had Notice on Saturday Evening, that another Wardmote would this Morning be held for the Election of an Alderman in the room of Sir John Lequeine, deceased: when their Votes were desired for Charles Ewer, Esq; who was declared by Sir John Barnard to have an equal Number of Legal Votes on the late Election with Charles Egleton, Esq; It is thought that Mr. Ewer only will be put in Nomination at this Wardmote.

AMONG the many Advantages attending a steady Pursuit of just and upright Measures, one is, that however violent the Oppositions may be, which thro' the Mistakes and Prejudices of Men, we encounter in such a Course, yet by degrees our Enemies are not only overcome, but all such as one to have one's Friends are convinced and over. There is such a Beauty in owning and the Cause of Truth at all Events, as no Craft, nor, can long hinder from operating on the just and generous Persons, and quenching in whatever Sparks of Resentment they had receiv'd, from hastily admitted Notions, or from a wrong Thinking. The Rays of Verity, like those of the Sun, operate much more forcibly than the Blasts of a North Wind; and tho' for a Time they may be Spaniards enough to retain their heat of mere Obstinacy, yet at length they yield, content to throw off a useless and uneasy Burden.

Thus daily happen in Private Life. The first force of strong Parts and great Industry, tho' a Man many Friends, excite at the same time Competitors and Enemies. As a Man's Virtues increase, these increase with it; and however his Private, however just and regular his Public, such as envy his Virtues will not cease to him. In Process of Time, however, when by being in the same Track he is too thoroughly established to be hurt by such little Arts, and Mankind in being convinced of his Integrity condemn such a narrowness of Spirit affect to have him, then this censorious Humour begins to depart, and a general Applause crowns that Perseverance, which is the Characteristic of a virtuous Temper, wherein Fortitude, and the Virtues are equally join'd. I dare say every Man without Trouble collect Instances enough of what I have stated, and therefore I shall not trouble with putting either real or feigned ones.

Men of virtuous Resolution move in sublimer, the Consequences of such a Conduct become more and more conspicuous; and for this Reason the sooner seen, and more readily makes the same impressions that I have done. Augustus had his Enemies when his Direction in Public Affairs had left none but the Handful which hated him. But he died his Wisdom and Clemency vanquished all opponents, and there were few so lost to all Sense of Shame, as to preserve even hidden Malice so great and good a Man, who died as himself, with universal Applause. It was the Say-Greek Statesman, who had triumphed over the best conducted Opposition History records, nothing gave him so much Satisfaction when he was to leave the World, as that he had so managed Power, as never to punish any Personal Injuries to him by his Fellow-Citizens. Queen Elizabeth's Minister, who in the first Entrance on the Admiralty had the crafty Leicester, and the quick-witted Raleigh, to deal with, not only overcame and outshone, but before they died had them both for his slaves. So irresistible is the Force of a calm and courageous Prosecution of just Views, and so sure is the true Countryman of bringing over sooner or later a sensible Countryman he has to his Opinion. I am a sensible Man, because there are some so void of Sense of Worth or Argument, that no Eloquence, no Virtue can disarm them.

These Reflections were, I confess, suggested to me, observing the wide Difference there is in the Behaviour of some Writers who scarce deserve to be named, such as they would fain pass upon the World for Patrons. The latter seem to have laid aside, if not their Prejudices at least their Resentment. As long as they were to be kept by Argument they remained in their Posts, but when what they thought Reasons clearly refused, they did not bring any Bodies of Men, and Men of Honour, act always as such even in Quarrels, and treat their declared Foes better than mean People can do such as they are pleased with. There are certain Laws which ought to be observed in Civil Disputes as well as there are in War; and such as have a due Regard to their Characters will no more stab a Man's Reputation, than they would his Person. This is a Kind of Guilt reserved for a Race of desperate Wretches, who feeling in themselves no Inclination to Good, are yet wickedly desirous of being distinguished by doing some atrocious Evil.

This is all the Answer that I can conceive proper for those doughty Champions the Craftsman and Common Sense of this Day. The former has thrown together a Heap of low, nonsensical Slander, unworthy of a Cabin-boy; and which if any Reader can think worth a Reply, let him look in the Craftsman's own Advertisements, and he will find the most proper one that can be. As for Common Sense, it is a Libel of a still lower Form, and which would tempt one to believe that the Man thought he had no Readers out of Rag-fair or Bridewell. To such Stuff as this what serious Answer can be made? To reason with such Men would be ridiculous, to make Reprisals is become impracticable: The wise, the thinking, the generous Part of the Opposition, have quitted the rotten Bark which they could no longer keep above Water. All who have any Respect to the Laws, or Regard to Decency, have publicly disclaimed such infamous Practices: And whatever idle Insinuations may be thrown out against the Writers of this Paper, they can never take from them the Honour of defending a Cause, which has now no Enemies but such as are equally so to good Sense and good Manners.

Saturday, April 11.

Petersburgh, March 29.

It is said that the Baron de Lowendahl General in chief of our Forces and Governor of Revel, who is for the present set out for Livonia, is to go Commander of the Troops which our Court is sending to the Assistance of the Queen of Hungary in order to prevent the Power of the House of Austria, which is the only Ally we have against the Ottoman Porte, from being diminished or indented.

Madrid, March 28. The new Treasurer Don Campillo will accompany the King on the 5th of next Month for Aranjuez, and 'tis very probable that he will come back Secretary of the Universal Dispatches, Secretary at War and Secretary of the Marine; that is to say, that he will be vested with the same Posts as Don Patinho had. This is what his Friends prophesy, as do also those of the Marquis de Villarias, whose Credit begins to totter. To the Praise of Campillo it must be said, he is very disinterested, laborious, and expeditious, and will speak the Truth tho' the D—l be at the Door. The 30,000 Men intended for the Expedition to Italy are now cloth'd, but many People think they will be thread-bare, if not quite worn out, before they go to Sea or reach the Alps, tho' the Court is still in hopes that things will take another Turn, and that France will grant the Men a Passage thro' her Dominions.

Olmütz, April 1. Three Spies are brought hither, who had found a Way to Sternberg to set fire to our Magazines. The Prussians continue to set fire to all Places, if they know that one Austrian Hussar was there but the Night before, and they have just demanded a great Sum of Money of the Monastery of Comentz, threatening to reduce it to Ashes in case of Refusal or Delay.

Hague, April 18. The Levy of the Troops for the second Augmentation is already begun, and it cannot be long before there will be a third, as well as a Promotion of General Officers. The Court of Great Britain takes great Pains to prevent our Differences with Denmark about the Commerce of Islande from having any fatal Consequences; and if this Affair be amicably accommodated, as 'tis hop'd it will, the Ships that are equipping upon this Occasion, and which therefore cannot possibly give Umbrage to France, may be employ'd elsewhere. The Fortifications of our Frontiers are still repairing, and two Works are adding in particular to those of Maëstricht.

Whoever takes them for 3 Days only, will be perfectly cured, and certain it is, that no Medicine upon Earth equal them; be careful therefore to have the Drops which are to be had only at Mrs. Holt's, at the Bible and Star in Cornhill, below the Royal Exchange, and Bottle with printed Directions at large.
